About the Club

Bhupinder Ghatahora started the Tadley & District Photography Club in June 2008 to spread the interest of photography in the local community and to make a place for those who share a common interest to meet. Membership to the Club has grown since it was established because one of its core aims is to listen and cater for its members. Bhupinder values her members and believes the Club would have not sustained or reached its heights today without them. The Club welcomes photographers with any skill level, whether novice or advanced. The philosophy of the Club is for all members to be friendly, open, share skills and learn from each other. Bhupinder has kept this focus since the Club was established and her members say this is what keeps them motivated and interested in the Club. The Club meets at 7 p.m. on the 2nd and 4th Tuesday of each month at the Salvation Army Hall in Tadley. Club meetings are held indoors, and regular field photo shoots are also held.

Club News

This is the Club's first monthly newsletter and will feature club news, member's photographs, workshops, future events, skills and quick tips. Macro, landscape, panning, night photography are some of the photo shoots planned for the future.

We have had a good start to this year and welcome three new members who joined since January. The Club had an evening out and enjoyed a fantastic meal at the local pub in February.

In March we held two workshops which covered the art of 'painting with light' and photographing traffic lights from a footbridge overlooking traffic. As the weather gets warmer, more outdoor photo shoots will be held, which creates a different atmosphere to the winter scenes. New members are always welcome to join.

The Club celebrated its 10th birthday last year with an exhibition at the Tadley Library which was a great success and well received.
